MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Six months after Dade County's ban on phosphate detergents went into effect, housewives say their whiter and grayer and a hospital reports a slight increase in diaper rash cases in the county.

Peter Baljet, Dade County pollution control officer and a leader in the fight for the ban which went into effect Jan. 1, said Friday that his office has received calls from housewives who say the non-phosphate detergents don't get whites as white as the phosphate detergents did. "But most of the women say they don't mind it if it helps clean up our waters."

Officials at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami reported they have seen a slight increase in diaper rash cases. "I understand the incidence of diaper rash reported at hospitals has gone up countywide very slightly," one Jackson doctor said, "and although we haven't researched it to where we can say it's definitely because of the phosphate ban, I can't think of any other cause that would cut across all social and economic lines."

Pollution control officials say that it's still too early to tell if the ban will achieve its intended effect of lowering the phosphate content in area canals and waterways and help eliminate the algae buildup that has covered many canals with a slimy green carpet of vegetation.

"I do not expect we will find any marked improvement in our waters for at least a year," Baljet said.

The ban went into effect over strong objections by some detergent industry representatives who lobbied hard in an unsuccessful effort to defeat it.

The pro-phosphate detergent forces predicted there would be a rash of child poisonings from the phosphate free detergents, but this has failed to materialize.

Shut Up And Deal!

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Thomas Austin "Amarillo Slim" Preston, a slow-drawl Texan who laid claim to the world championship of poker here Friday, says he'll "go anywhere in the world for a good game of poker." But the stakes had better be in the six figures.

"Amarillo Slim" won the world title Friday by cleaning out "Pug" Pearson of Nashville, Tenn., and Las Vegas, after eight hours of nonstop playing. The two were the last of eight bigtime poker players who fought into the game with $10,000 each on a winner-take-all basis.

Preston, whose original stake had dwindled at one point to only $1,700, collected $90,000 and retired for a little sleep.

He is considered one of the elite of high-stakes poker, one of a small group of men who devote themselves to finding and playing in "the big games."

"I've traveled around the world for big games," said Preston, an easy-going man who dresses in cowboy hat and boots while playing. "I play regularly in Europe and even Australia, wherever there's a big one."

To "Slim" and such men as "Texas Dolly" Doyle, "Jolly" Roger Funsmith and others, the "World Series" is the glamor game of the year.

But it is the other games, including ones expected to continue here during the next week, that provide the high stakes.

"We had three-quarters of a million dollars on the table during a game here last year," Preston recalled.

"Amarillo Slim" is a former professional billiards player who, despite his occupation, boasts of a normal home life.

"I have a wife, three kids and a dog and I've coached Little League," he says. "And I do not gamble in my home town."

The game which ended Friday is called "hold 'em," a variation of seven-card stud. Each player is dealt two cards face down. Five cards are dealt on the table face up. Using the two "hole" cards and the five "communal" table cards, the player with the best five-card hand wins.

As Slim put it, "You have to have a strong heart to play this game for the stakes we play."

Indochina War

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops pushed within sight of the beleaguered provincial capital of An Loc Friday but encountered stiff resistance on their flanks.

North Vietnamese infantrymen backed by tank fire assaulted the outer defenses of the central highlands city of Koutam, another provincial capital, but South Vietnamese officers said the enemy was thrown back.

An Loc, 90 miles north of Saigon, is the southernmost of three fronts established by the six-week-old North Vietnamese offensive. The northern front around the old imperial capital of Hue remained relatively calm.

U.S. Navy F4 Phantoms reported downing two enemy MIG-19 interceptors 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, bringing to 138 the number of Soviet-built MIGs shot down during the war. The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio claimed two American planes were shot down over the North on Friday and their pilots captured alive. There was no immediate comment from the U.S. Command.

Associated Press correspondent Lynn C. Newland reported from Highway 13 that lead elements of a government relief column trying to clear the road into An Loc pushed a mile closer to town and could see it in the distance, less than two miles away.

But progress was slow. Flanking units that tried to drive the enemy from bunkers hidden in the brush off the highway came under heavy shelling and rifle fire. They dug in for the night.

The relief column is trying to secure the road as it advances in order to evacuate wounded from An Loc and send in fresh troops and supplies. The town itself has been virtually destroyed by continuous fighting in recent weeks.

President Speaks On Summit Nixon Hopes For Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon declared Friday night he is embarking on a historic mission to Moscow Saturday with hope for real progress in three areas—including arms curbs.

The President, speaking informally to newsmen at a White House reception, said previous East-West summits "added up to cosmetics—all froth and very little substance."

Nixon said he sees a real possibility of agreement at the Moscow summit on arms limitations, trade relations and co-operation in space exploration.

The chief executive cautioned, "I would not raise hopes too high because there are some knotty problems to be solved." But he reported receiving within the past 48 hours a personal message from Communist party chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev that "indicated a positive attitude."

The President said the message was brought to him Thursday at his Camp David retreat by the Soviet ambassador, Anatoly Dobrynin.

Nixon said that as President he has engaged in "a very great volume" of direct and written exchanges of views with Brezhnev—exchanges not made public at the time.

Although Nixon said he met

Brezhnev only once, and briefly in 1959, he believes he and the Russian well understand where their differences lie and at the summit will "come quickly to the problem."

The President said that apart from arms limitations, trade and space cooperation, both the United States and the Soviet Union have submitted other items for the agenda.

He said these would include "Vietnam and other areas of the world where the United States and the Soviet Union do sometimes have conflicting interests."

Nixon described the summit as having been "perhaps over three years" in the planning. He said the single event that made it possible was "the success of the understandings on Berlin"—an agreement ratified just Thursday by the upper house of the West German parliament.

Nixon met earlier in addition with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress to discuss his journey.

This was in marked contrast to Nixon's behavior before departing for his February trip to mainland China. At that time, he had little to say before leaving Washington and little to add after returning.

The circumstances only reinforced widespread expectations that American-Soviet accords in a number of key areas are virtually set for announcement once Nixon becomes the first American president ever to visit the Soviet capital.

Most important among the agreements probably was a blueprint for curbing the East-West contest for overwhelming superiority in strategic arms.

Nixon talked at length with reporters early Friday morning at Walter Reed and at Holy Cross Hospital in nearby Silver Spring, Md., where he visited with Democratic Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, victim Monday of a would-be assassin's bullets. At Walter Reed he called on Secret Service agent Nick Zarvos, shot in the throat during the attempt on Wallace's life.

The chief executive seemed completely relaxed, apparently convinced that no major roadblocks stand in the way of a successful mission to Moscow.

The President held an unusual and then-secret conference Thursday at his Camp David, Md., retreat with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and Henry A. Kissinger, the chief executive's principal national security affairs adviser.

Nothing was said about what was discussed by Nixon, Dobrynin and Kissinger.

MONTGOMERY, Ala.: Capt. E. C. Dothard, the state trooper who was shot Monday as he tried to protect his boss, Gov. George C. Wallace, said here Friday that he would like to see presidential candidates abandon outdoor rallies and handshaking for their protection. He says he still is a little sore from his mid-section wound but plans to be back with Wallace in Maryland next Monday. He has been guarding Wallace since 1963. (UPI Telephoto)

Primary Campaigning Action On West Coast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern will meet in nationally televised campaign debates on the two Sundays before the June 6 California primary, aides to the two Democratic contenders announced Friday.

The candidates will meet in "debate format" on one-hour broadcasts of ABC's "Issues and Answers" and CBS's "Face the Nation." One broadcast will be May 28 and the second on June 4.

John Morrison, one of Humphrey's top lieutenants, said after a meeting with McGovern officials in Los Angeles that the senators also would hold a third California debate if it can be arranged.

The aides said if the third debate is held, it would occur between next Thursday and next Sunday.

The announcement came as McGovern "whistle-stopped" by motorcycle through Oregon in an effort to fatten his expected victory margin in Tuesday's primary. Humphrey was taking a rare "rest day" from the busy campaign trail.

The third major Democratic presidential contender, Alabama Gov. George Wallace, received a visit from President Nixon at the Silver Spring, Md., hospital where Wallace is recovering from Monday's gunshot attack which followed a rally in Laurel, Md.

Nixon said Wallace, who his aides say is determined to carry on his campaign, seemed "very alert."

In Sacramento, Calif., Wallace was certified as a write-in candidate on the California primary ballot.

California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. announced that he received a telegram from Wallace's campaign manager asking that Wallace be recognized as a candidate.

Brown said he waived a requirement that a candidate must sign such a request because of the physical condition of Wallace.

Agnew Says We're Coming Out Of Woods In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew dismissed as "totally unrealistic" Friday the chances of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally becoming President Nixon's running mate this year.

Emerging from a 40-minute meeting with Nixon, Agnew also told newsmen "We are coming out of the woods" in Vietnam—one of his three steps on an Asian tour he completed Friday.

After Agnew gave his assessment on Vietnam, questioning at the White House news conference turned to the political future of Connally, a Texas Democrat who submitted his resignation this week.

Nixon accepted Connally's resignation—to be effective upon confirmation of Budget Director George P. Shultz as his successor—with such praise of Connally that speculation flared again that the President might have Connally in mind for the GOP vice presidential nomination.

Agnew said in response to a question that Nixon has yet to ask him to be his running mate again and added: "I'm not going to pre-decide" whether to make the race "until I'm asked."

He said Nixon should seek a running mate who can help him the most. Whatever the President decides, Agnew said, "I'll be happy to go along." But the vice president said it was "totally unrealistic to expect the Republican convention to accept" Connally as Nixon's running mate.

"I just don't understand how a registered Democrat in the middle of May in an election year" could switch his party allegiance and be nominated by the GOP convention three months later, Agnew said.

As for Vietnam, Agnew said morale in Saigon is high and that South Vietnamese leaders "feel they have turned the corner and are on their way back."

After saying, "We are coming out of the woods," Agnew added, "I know that's been said before." But he continued that the South Vietnamese now are aggressively counterattacking and that Nixon's mining of North Vietnamese harbors and heavy air attacks on rail lines are hurting the Communists.

Pentagon Flushed Out By Rest Room Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI experts sifted rubble of a bomb-shattered Pentagon rest-room Friday for clues to determine who caused a post-midnight explosion in apparent protest against U.S. air and sea attacks on North Vietnam.

Antiwar activists told news organizations "we attacked the Pentagon, the center of the American military command."

Pentagon officials reported "no appreciable slowdown" in operations of the huge Defense Department headquarters, although tighter security measures were in effect.

About 18 persons who normally worked near the fourth-floor explosion scene were unable to use their offices, but otherwise it appeared that most of the building's 27,500 military and civilian workers were on a business-as-usual basis.

A rash of new bomb threats hit the Pentagon after news of the blast came out. Officials regarded these as crank calls, although precautionary checks were made.

Bomb experts combed the world's biggest office building with the aid of a specially trained "sniffer" dog named Duchess, but no additional bombs were turned up.

Pentagon authorities said they had no estimate of damage and expected none at least until Monday, after a detailed examination of the damaged area. It is centered in the outer corridor, the equivalent of two city blocks from the office suites of the Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr., and Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force chief of staff. However, it was apparent that the damage was extensive.

Thousands of gallons of water gushed from shattered pipes and caused what was described as minimal damage to an Air Force data processing center containing some $15 million worth of equipment. After a 7½-hour interruption, the center was back in operation and officials said no data was lost.

Nixon Pays Visit To Ailing Wallace

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)

—President Nixon paid a surprise 20-minute visit to the bedside of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace Friday and said afterward that Wallace's morale was "quite remarkable."

Later, Wallace issued a campaign statement from his hospital bed thanking Alabamians for "being with us."

The governor's press secretary, Billy Jo Camp, acknowledged that the statement could be interpreted as a resumption of Wallace's presidential campaign.

The message said Alabamians "are responsible for the new direction in this country because most of the politicians are sounding like us."

Camp said Wallace has been able to sit on a portable inclined cot away from his bed and for the first time Friday was fed food by mouth—chicken broth soup.

Doctors said the governor, who is convalescing from gun wounds, is maintaining stable pulse and blood pressures.

"The governor had a good night," said a medical advisory put out early Friday by Holy Cross Hospital.

Nixon told reporters after the morning visit:

"I don't know what the physical damage will be, but the most important thing, nothing's happened to his heart and nothing has happened to his brain."

Wallace was gunned down late Monday at a rally in Laurel, Md. One bullet lodged in his spinal canal, paralyzing his legs.

"As I looked at him this morning," Nixon said of his private meeting with Wallace, "he was very alert. He looked as if he had a good night's sleep. His reaction time was extremely fast."

"You would think he was just in for a tonsillectomy or something like that rather than what he's been through."

Nixon said he reiterated his offer to let Wallace stay in the presidential suite at Walter Reed Hospital. Nixon said the governor told him that he might at a later date but he was eager to return to Alabama.

Moderate Increase In Living Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lower grocery prices helped hold over-all living costs to a relatively modest rise of two-tenths of one per cent in April and the purchasing power of workers' average pay showed record gains, the government said Friday.

The latest rise in the Consumer Price Index also triggered cost-of-living increases in pensions for more than one million retired federal employees and their survivors that will cost the government more than $185 million a year.

"We are pleased that, at a time of strong recovery, the economy is also continuing to move toward the President's goal of a much reduced inflation rate," Dr. Marina Whitman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisors said of the April price report.

Price declines for meats, poultry, eggs and fresh vegetables were major factors in the over-all drop of two-tenths of one per cent for groceries, said the report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Higher prices for men's clothing, used cars, restaurant meals and housing caused most of the living costs rise, the report pushed the Consumer Price Index up to 124.3 per cent of its 1967 base of 100.

This meant it cost $124.30 a month for every $100 worth of typical family spending five years ago for food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation.

The Civil Service Commission said approximately 1,075 federal retirees and survivors will begin to receive a 4.4 per cent cost-of-living hike in their checks mailed Aug. 1.

Living costs were 3.4 per cent above a year earlier. The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics added that they at an annual rate of 1.1 per cent in the five months of Phase II, compared with a per cent rate in the six months before Nixon's wage freeze last August.

Mrs. Whitman said the figures were well below on a Nixon target of inflation to a rate of 1 per cent annually by the year

Climactic Pipeline Battle

The inevitable climactic legal battle over the trans-Alaska hot oil pipeline project has now been precipitated by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton's announcement that a permit would be granted. This pits the government, and the oil consortium which proposes this undertaking, against a coalition of environmental groups.

The thesis of the environmentalists, whose legal representative is the Center for Law and Social Policy, is that the pipeline is unnecessary at this time and might cause severe environmental harm. Over the past three years they have advanced two basic arguments against the project: one, that crossing hundreds of miles of permafrost with a heated pipeline poses a severe potential hazard to the region, and two, that oil tanker traffic from Valdez on the southern Alaskan shore to Pacific Coast markets would risk marine pollution on a large scale.

These and other arguments are elaborated in the environmental groups' detailed response to the environmental impact statement which the government was required by the courts to provide. Interior, taking that statement into account, now in effect has rejected the environmentalists' claims — or, to put it more accurately, has said they are outweighed by the urgency of bolstering domestic oil production in the immediate future.

It is a tough issue for the courts, but light can now be seen at the end of the tunnel. Probably in a matter of months, the final decision will be made.

Not A Time For Name-Calling

Just as this is a time for statesmanship on the part of the President and members of Congress, it is a time for responsible citizenship. It is not a time for reckless name-calling, whether directed against anti-war demonstrators or the administration.

Such passions are aroused by this terrible war in Vietnam that even persons of stable temper and good will, ordinarily inclined to hear all sides of a question, are tempted to lash out at those who disagree with them. We are all under pressure to impugn the motives of our opponents in this affair.

The results of this are evident in what is being heard on all sides. Some depict the President and key administration figures as vile men callous to all humane concerns, bullheadedly proceeding with a suicidal course. Some call the anti-war demonstrators friends of Hanoi, traitors, trouble-makers bent on hampering the government in its pursuit of an honorable peace. Senators who decry Mr. Nixon's course as perilous escalation of the war are charged with treason; the President is in turn accused of dictatorial disregard for the Constitution, and some cry for his impeachment.

Nothing is gained, and much lost, by bitter name-calling. It distracts from the real questions at issue, substituting passion for sober thought about the alternatives open to us. Our focus on those alternatives will be sharpened if we assume that the great majority of Americans, whatever their views about the war, are well intentioned and deeply concerned with the national interest. It is, we believe, a sound assumption.

Okinawa Back To Japan

Endless wordage has been expended on the irony-laden theme of war's ultimate futility. We commend the story of Okinawa to the attention of anyone who contemplates a future essay on the subject.

It was 27 years ago that 12,283 Americans and more than a quarter of a million Japanese lost their lives on Okinawa in the bloodiest land battle of World War II. Since then the Ryukyu chain has been administered by the United States, and the islands are dominated by American military installations.

Now, after much political fuss and endless negotiating, Okinawa has again become part of Japan. A part of the agreement is that from now on the 100 U.S. military installations will be subject to the provisions of the U.S.-Japan security treaty, with American commanders required to have Japanese government approval as a pre-condition to storing nuclear warheads or staging combat actions.

A difficult period of adjustment, economic and social, lies ahead for the Okinawans as they assume more control of their government. But at least, as the U.S. high commissioner Lt. Gen. James B. Lampert remarked, "a period of history which began in the tragedy and suffering of war... is closing in conditions of peace." Perhaps that is about as much as one can ask.

10 YEARS AGO

Morgan county had 11,194 housing units in 1960. So says the Census Bureau.

There are nine candidates for park district commissioner, five to be elected June 2. They'll be jobless unless the voters approve the proposed park district, which appears to be most doubtful.

D. L. Hardin of Jacksonville has been elected treasurer of the Illinois Business Schools association.

Over 800 persons in Morgan county are now receiving monthly social security checks, announces H. J. Vasconcellos of Springfield, district manager.

Denham Harney of Jacksonville was elected vice president-at-large of the Illinois Elks association at the annual convention held in Chicago.

A census shows there are 1,156 persons living in the western strip of territory recently annexed to the city of Jacksonville.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Listen, my friend, if you don't put your seatback up—I'll hijack this plane!"

U.S. Regains Air Mastery Over Soviet-Made MIGs

By WARREN L. NELSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) —In recent weeks the United States has suddenly regained its total air mastery over Soviet-made MIGs—a mastery gained in the Korean War but which had slipped noticeably during the Vietnam War.

In the Korean conflict American fighters tore through the Communist fighters, downing 795 MIGs while losing only 113 planes in dogfights, a 7-1 ratio. From 1965 to 1968, when the United States was bombing margin of superiority at little better than 2-1.

North Vietnam regularly, Hanoi periodically sent her MIGs to challenge the new generation of U.S. fighters. The United States continued to win out most of the time, bagging 110 MIGs to Hanoi's score of 48 U.S. planes. However, that left the U.S.

Now the picture has changed radically. After three relatively quiet years, Hanoi's air force in the past few months has reappeared in the skies to challenge the stepped-up U.S. bombing. In that time North Vietnam's MIGs have shot down only four F4 Phantoms and the Phantoms have bagged 24 MIGs, a 6-1 kill ratio.

MIGs Must Fight

Air Force officials said the main reason the ratio has improved is that the MIGs are no longer able to pick and choose their targets at leisure. U.S. planes are once again striking at their airfields and ground control radar sites, forcing the MIGs to come up and fight or watch their air force be destroyed on the ground.

Officials said the MIGs in Vietnam are controlled by radars on the ground. The radar controllers watch their own MIGs as well as the U.S. Phantoms and can guide the MIGs when they choose through the haze generated by North Vietnam's humidity and rice paddies and into the blind spot behind their American targets.

"As long as they can operate like that they have an advantage," one Air Force officer said. "They know where we are; we never know where they are until they fire."

To counter the built-in advantage for the MIGs, U.S. training has put increasing emphasis on team flying in which each pilot is responsible for watching another pilot's blind spot—that area directly behind from which all planes are most vulnerable.

Blips Fill Screens

Another reason for the greater kills, officials said, is that last week there were some massed air battles with large numbers of planes swirling about in the air. The ground radars were unable to direct a battle when their screens were filled with blips.

Thus Hanoi's airmen lost their big advantage. Adding to the woes of Hanoi's air force, U.S. planes recently destroyed the center at Bach Mai where the war room directing the air defense of North Vietnam was located.

The importance of the radars on the ground is believed to be one reason the MIGs have rarely ventured far from North Vietnamese air space to challenge U.S. aircraft elsewhere in Indochina.

Soviet Needs U.S. For Its Economy

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Regardless of U.S. mining of North Vietnam ports, there are compelling reasons why Russian party boss Leonid Brezhnev must reach some sort of an accord with Washington.

Brezhnev is deeply concerned over China and the United States relationship with Peking. He cannot allow a United States-China tie so strong that Russia's interests are endangered; thus he must keep a door opened to Mr. Nixon.

The pressure of the Russian people for meat can no longer be denied. The pressure is strongest in that middle and upper class essential to the working of the Russian economy, bureaucracy and military. This means heavy, continued, increased imports of feed grains and the material required for fertilizer plants and other agriculture and meat development programs.

The United States is the only regular major source for these feed increases on which Russia can depend with certainty over the next decade.

More immediately, Russia has suffered most serious crop losses this past winter.

The Soviet Union is not progressing economically at a rate which would, over the next several decades, enable it to maintain its position as one of the world's two great super powers. Brezhnev and his associates recognize this.

They know there must be enough of an accord with the United States to persuade Mr. Nixon to allow the export of high-technology equipment and the sending of highly skilled engineers to Russia to push their flagging computer, petrochemical, agri-business and other essential industries.

The Russians are chronically short of capital for their expansion programs. They must have long-term loans and a heavy long-term investment of dollars, equipment and know-how. They must have an American market to pay for their growing import needs.

Brezhnev has become convinced that to achieve the economic development he desires, Russia must also cut back in military spending and shift chunks of its own technical talent, scarce materials and funds from military programs to high technology and resource development.

But the only way the Russians can afford to reduce the prohibitively costly nuclear program is to sign a strategic arms limitation agreement which gives them parity with the United States.

Emotionally, the Soviet leaders are obsessed with legitimacy—of their government, of their role in East Europe and of their position in India, the Arab world and Southeast Asia. The Russians believe Mr. Nixon can exert the influence they require to achieve a greater measure of legitimacy through changes in American laws and regulations and through pressure on West Germany and other allies.

Ann Landers:

Pets Strain Marriage Ties

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago my wife died, leaving me with four dogs. They range in age from 16 to five years. These dogs have been like children to me.

Recently I married. My present wife has a dog and she is as devoted to Dolly as I am to my dogs. The problem is that Dolly and my dogs are at each other's throats every chance they get. We have to keep my dogs in the basement and they are not very happy down there. We cannot turn all the dogs loose in the fenced yard at the same time because the barking disturbs the neighbors.

My dogs have had a lifetime of companionship with me so I must spend a lot of time in the basement with them or they get very unhappy and cry. Neither my wife nor I can give up our dogs—it would be like giving up children.

Do you know of a tranquilizer we might give our pets to help them get along together? Our marriage is suffering and I am not pulling my leg. Please give me some help, Ann. — Serious Dilemma

Dear Dil: My Chicago canine experts tell me tranquilizers will not solve your problem. You'll have to wait till the dogs die. I hope your marriage lasts them. It seems to me that both you and your bride have a strange sense of priorities.

Dear Ann Landers: If you say I am overly sensitive I will never bring this subject up again. But I do feel I have a legitimate complaint. It's my husband's sister. She has a beautiful home about 20 miles from here. The house has a large living room, a nice size dining room, a roomy kitchen, two bedrooms and two bathrooms. To this day we have never been entertained in the living room. We've only seen it while passing through. She always asks us to sit in the kitchen.

The kitchen chairs are comfortable and it's a pleasant room, but I feel this is an insult—almost as if we aren't good enough to sit on her upholstered furniture. My husband says it's an old-country custom that his sister picked up from her mother. His sister was born in this country and I say she ought to know better. Should I tell her we'd like to sit in the living room next time? — Mrs. Long Island

Dear Mrs. Sure. If you want to. Maybe she thinks you are more comfortable in the kitchen just because she is. If sitting in the living room means so much to you, tell her so.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you settle an argument please? My husband and I received an invitation to a silver wedding anniversary party. It is being given by the children of the couple. The invitation is engraved. At the foot of the invitation it says, "No gifts, please."

This, in my opinion is in terrible taste and I say no ethical printer would produce such a cloddish invitation. After all, people who are in the business know what's right and if they are half-way decent they will protect their customers against such ignorant mistakes. What do you say, Ann? — Vermont Readers

Dear V.: I agree it is not in good taste to mention gifts on an invitation of any kind, but the printer's job is to print.

If asked for "counsel," a printer might indulge in a little guidance. But most people go to the printer with their minds pretty well made up.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What is the meaning of this word "productivity" which, we are told, must continue to rise if workers are to make more real dollars, companies make bigger profits and everyone improve his standard of living?

As President Nixon said in a Labor Day message last year, "it sounds like the old speedup or some new efficiency system that drives people harder."

It is hardly that, but convincing the fellow who pushes a wheelbarrow is another thing. He may really believe that it can only mean harder work for him and, in effect, a lowering of his living standard.

More realistically, his productivity would be increased many more times if a technique were developed that permitted him to sit behind a console and direct a machine to do more efficiently the work he once did with his muscles.

But selling that notion is another thing. As Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said in a speech this week: "Somehow we've got to put some sex or soul into productivity."

The AFL-CIO describes productivity simply and adequately. It is, according to the "American Federationist," a measure of efficiency in production. "It expresses a relationship between a result and something required to produce that result."

The "something required" isn't just harder work. It also involves the imaginative and efficient use of methods, machines and money as well.

As it has sometimes been put, productivity gains require "smart work" rather than just "hard work." Whereas the human being has physical limitations, his mind can conceive machines and methods of almost limitless power. But forget for the moment how you improve productivity, and concentrate on how you measure it.

Says the Federationist: "The efficiency of a baseball player is measured by comparing the hits he produces with the number of times he comes to bat ... and of an automobile by the number of miles it travels per gallon. Similarly, efficiency in the factory, the store or the office can be measured by comparing the output of goods or services with the number of hours of work required to produce such goods and services.

"The result is a rate—output per man-hour—which indicates how much can be produced by the labor of one person during one hour."

True. But now return to that matter we forgot about for the moment. Productivity must continue to rise if the standard of living is to grow. That analogy with the ballplayer and the automobile is, therefore, imperfect.

The ballplayer can continue to win pay raises if he just manages to keep his efficiency or batting average at .300 year after year. And nobody expects their automobile to get more miles to the gallon each year.

But productivity must rise each year if we are to improve our lot in life. And Americans—in fact all people of the industrialized world—fully expect that to occur, at least in a material sense.

American workers still are the world's most productive, but foreigners are making big gains, which is not surprising when you consider the lower base from which they are rising—often with the aid of American know-how.

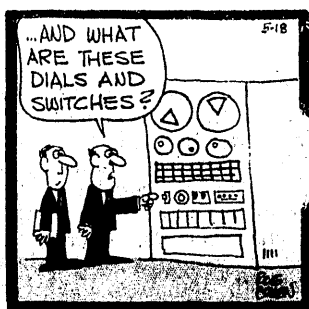

And how do you get that rate to grow faster? By the old methods? If only it were that simple, it isn't.

The reason is that the United States is steadily changing its nature. Since World War II the country has been de-emphasizing the output of goods relative to the production of services.

It's one thing to raise the productivity of a production line or a coal mine, but as is often pointed out, how do you raise the productivity of the surgeon or the insurance agent or the sales clerk or truck driver?

It will take a lot more than sex and soul.

How To Say 'No Thanks'

By CARLTON SMITH

The "unorderly merchandise" film continues to flourish, and some of the perpetrators get downright nasty when they start trying to harass you into paying for what you didn't order and don't want. There is one sure formula for avoiding trouble.

There are also several that invite trouble. Some states, for example, have passed laws making the delivery of unorderly merchandise a crime. In these states, the recipient is free to keep and use the merchandise. These few instances have been publicized to the extent that many consumers believe this is "the law" now, pertaining to unorderly merchandise. Not so.

State laws treat the subject in a variety of ways, and the promoters of these schemes use this lack of uniformity to their advantage. To cope with the problem, however, there's no need to do legal research or consult an attorney to determine precisely how the law treats unorderly merchandise in your particular state. It's enough to understand the basic legal principle involved.

Most laymen, probably, think of a legal contract as a document containing many "where-ases" and duly signed by the contracting parties. Actually, the law of contracts covers many buyer-seller relationships in which no even spoken words are exchanged, much less is there anything in writing.

A contract consists of an offer and an acceptance. If a merchant simply displays a card of ballpoint pens priced at 39 cents, that is legally an offer to sell. If you pick off a pen and hand him 39 cents, that is legally your acceptance of his offer, and the transaction is covered by the law of contracts.

In the case of unorderly merchandise, unless the law of your state specifically treats the matter otherwise, the delivery of the merchandise into your possession is probably construed, legally, as an offer to sell. Your continued possession of it, without protest that you don't want it, probably constitutes, legally, your acceptance.

The promoter then has the law of contracts on his side, and he can make a great deal of trouble for you. No matter what you may have read, or been told, you're not off the hook after 30 days, or a year, and it's no protection to just put the merchandise away unused.

What you must do is establish, legally, that there is no acceptance on your part.

Write the sender a letter, stating that you did not order the merchandise, and don't want it. Say that you will hold it for 30 days (you are NOT required to return it at your own expense), that if it is not called for within that time it will be sold for storage charges—and that your charge for storage is $1 per day.

Make a carbon or photocopy of the letter, mail it to yourself, and file the unopened letter away.

If, after 30 days, you sell an unopened bottle of perfume to your daughter-in-law, to cover your $30 storage charge, and her best offer is 25 cents ... well, the unorderly merchandise promoter owes you $28.75. Good luck on collecting.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices shot ahead Friday, carrying Thursday's rally into its second consecutive day.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 10.31 to 961.54. On Thursday, the blue-chip indicator also gained over 10 points.

Analysts said Thursday's upswing brought many investors off the sidelines, boosting morale and setting the stage for Friday's gains.

In the news background, the government revised upward its figures for first-quarter Gross National Product and revised downward its estimate of the annual rate of inflation during that period.

President Nixon's forthcoming Moscow summit conference also was interpreted as a positive sign by investors, brokers noted.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 19.58 million shares, compared with 17.37 million Thursday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.56 to 60.54.

Of the 1,786 issues traded on the Big Board, 999 advanced, and 488 declined. There were 118 new highs and 62 new lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.2 to 334.3, with industrials up 4.6, rails up 0.9, and utilities up 0.2.

Metals, utilities, mail order, retail and rails were mixed. Most other stock categories were higher.

There were 154 blocks of 10,000 shares or over traded on the Big Board, compared with a revised total of 142 Friday.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index rose 0.11 to 27.86. Of the 1,234 issues traded, 548 advanced, and 400 declined. Volume totaled 5.20 million shares, compared with 4.69 million Thursday.

In Over-the-Counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index gained 1.34 to 132.16, while the industrial index rose 1.76 to 141.57.

HIS FEET ARE ON THE GROUND!

This man can see for many, many miles, but he's not up in the clouds; his feet are on the ground!

The Church gives man stability too—a broader vision. It lifts up his eyes to see God and the eternal values of love, truth, justice and service which God inspires. It gives him a divine perspective from which to view his job, his family, his country—his life!

But the Church always keeps that man's feet on the ground! It accepts him for what he is—regardless of the clothes he wears or the job he holds. It looks evil in the face and sees it for what it is—a devilish cancer which only God can cure. It keeps a man's feet on the ground while it lifts up his eyes to see beyond the horizon.

And this is what the Church can do for you! It can give you greater vision. But it's not up in the clouds. It keeps your feet on the ground!

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no excuse for boredom in this world.

You hear of the man who wears it all because he has "been everywhere and done everything." No such a man exists.

Wardrobe storage
woolens &
fur garments
Laundry &
Dry Cleaners
Howard's

No one man ever had or ever could encompass the endless variety of possibilities that life offers. It is not the world that limits man. It is man who limits his world.

So don't pine for lack of exciting or worthwhile or even curiosity-satisfying things to do. The chances are that—like this writer—you haven't yet even—

Filled a water cup by holding it under Niagara Falls.
Planted a money tree.
Held a sticky wicket.
Broken a glass jaw.

Seen how long a line you can draw with the lead in a single pencil.

Robbed a honey hive in the woods.

Found out whether a zebra is white with black stripes or black and white stripes.

Taken the temperature of a volcano.

Been a patient of Dr. Kildare or Dr. Marcus Welby.

Had your chevrons ripped off.

Put your money where your mouth is.

Held your fire until you saw the whites of anybody's eyes.

Split a coconut in half with a karate blow.

What do you mean by saying that you are bored, man? What have you really done in your life so far except kill time? En garde, sire! The waiting world still invites you to a duel.

True And False Of Vacation Time

From a mother who has successfully endured 20 years of summer vacation periods with children, the following report.

TRUE: Children ages 2 to 12 find complete joy through mixing sand and stuff.

"Stuff" can be roughly translated as anything liquid or sticky, including water, orange juice, shoe polish, peanut butter, and the like.

Nobody ever learns to be neater about watermelon.

Grass grows more riotously during the weeks the children are away.

Tennis shoes always squeak but infuriatingly so in July.

The mail-order companies who promise their books and magazines for kids guarantee to "keep them engrossed and will stimulate learning during the summer months" are guilty of false advertising.

Everything seems to cost more in July.

Fathers play more golf in July.

FALSE: Summer is wonderful.

Children need three months of vacation from school.

Children wouldn't look so scruffy by Aug. 10 if their mothers cared more about them.

A sofa looks better after being covered with wet bathing suits, two dogs and sandwich crusts.

Other mothers let kids wear swim fins in the bathtub, eat cookies without a meal-break, buy Army surplus tanks, keep the freezer filled with crushed ice for snow cones.

Anything else kids tell you when you say "no" to them.

Everyone's Drinking And Dancing As Usual'

LONDON (AP) — The liner Queen Elizabeth 2 steamed full speed for Europe Friday night with bands playing, passengers dancing, and popping champagne corks the only explosions.

"Everyone's drinking and dancing as usual and I don't think there's any danger," a girl crew member reported by radio from the floating pleasure palace.

Cunard officials in London gave the same cheerful verdict.

17-Year-Old Dies As Day Of Violence Ends

BELFAST (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was shot dead late Friday night at the end of a day of violence in Northern Ireland.

The youth died in Londonderry's Roman Catholic Bogside enclave, a bastion of Irish Republican Army guerrillas. His body, with a bullet in the head, was delivered to a hospital.

Some time earlier, the British army reported a soldier fired at a gunman who had shot at a military observation post. The soldier fired one shot and believed he hit the assailant.

Two British soldiers and 10 civilians were injured in a bomb blast in Londonderry.

The 40-pound bomb was planted in the baggage compartment of a car parked a block from the city center. It went off as a three-man army patrol was passing and caused widespread damage to surrounding buildings.

The injured included a woman, a baby, a 3-year-old child and seven men. They suffered relatively minor injuries, mainly from flying glass. One of the soldiers was reported in serious condition with head wounds.

In Belfast, 12 children at a Protestant school were treated for shock after a gunman opened up on them from the neighboring Roman Catholic Grosvenor Road district. The rest of the children were evacuated and sent home for the day.

Former Premier Brian Faulkner, ousted when the British took control of Northern Ireland in March, announced the healing of a rift with the militant forces of William Craig.

Faulkner said he was forming a committee of Unionist party leaders to campaign for an end to direct rule by London and restoration of the Protestant-based provincial government.

Bunco furnished entertainment and prizes went to Mrs. J. Ivan Crawford, Mrs. Harold McGinnis and Mrs. C. H. Mallicoat.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Yet the search for bombs went on, led by four British experts who parachuted into the Atlantic near the ship Thursday. And speculation bounced around that Cunard had paid $350,000 ransom via the FBI to the mystery man who threat-

Primary

Saying he didn't want to take his Oregon lead for granted, the South Dakota senator began the day with a radio talk show in Portland. Then he embarked on a 175-mile motor trip down the populous Willamette Valley. McGovern planned to fly to North Bend on the coast for a labor dinner address Friday night.

Minnesota Sen. Humphrey passed up campaigning in Oregon to concentrate on California's rich June 6 presidential primary with a prize of 271 delegate votes—winner take all. Friday, he spent a relaxed, secluded day at the fashionable Bel Air home of one of his California backers talking to supporters and potential campaign contributors.

Both Humphrey and McGovern are planning to spend well over $1 million in their California campaigns. McGovern made a brief Los Angeles stop Thursday and will begin his all-out California drive after the Oregon balloting.

Humphrey plans to campaign in California virtually nonstop from Saturday through June 6, with one possible trip to New Jersey which also holds its primary June 6.

The expected highlight of the California campaign now is a series of televised debates between Humphrey and McGovern. Humphrey proposed the debates—suggesting three in all—in opening his California campaign Thursday. McGovern immediately accepted, noting he had challenged all comers to debate him months ago.

Humphrey aides hoped to begin tentative negotiations with the McGovern camp to set the time, place and ground rules. A possible hitch came when Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, also a Democratic presidential contender, demanded to be included because of the federal rule requiring stations to give equal time to political candidates.

But Humphrey aides said the rule would not apply if the two candidates were specifically invited to appear on a regularly scheduled news show such as "Face the Nation" or "Issues and Answers"—two of the network shows offered as vehicles for the California-based debate.

While in Los Angeles Thursday, McGovern got the endorsement of Coretta King, widow of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. Friday, he won the backing of Cesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers Union.

Part of McGovern's strategy is to cut into Humphrey's long-time strength among California's blacks and Mexican-Americans.

ened to blow up the 65,000-ton liner and her 2,350 passengers and crew.

Victor Matthews, Cunard chairman, told a London news conference the cash had been handed to the FBI in bills of $10 and $20.

A Cunard man in New York said nothing had been paid to extortionists. Matthews, however, pointedly declined to say if the FBI still had the money. The FBI in Washington kept similarly mum.

Was the whole thing a hoax? "More of a confidence trick," said Matthews. "The whole story will come out eventually."

Cunard promised another news conference Saturday when the vessel reaches Cherbourg. The drama started Wednesday with a telephone call to Cunard's New York office saying six bombs had been planted aboard in New York along with two men ready to detonate them—one an ex-convict, the other a terminal cancer case, both prepared to die. Cunard and security men on both sides of the Atlantic decided to take the threat seriously, partly because the caller showed some technical knowledge of the ship, partly because the call tallied with a threat delivered to Scotland Yard two months before.

Thursday evening, passengers lined the rails to watch four British bomb disposal experts drop through the clouds by parachute to be picked up by launch and hustled aboard. They searched the big ship for six hours but found nothing.

Chairman Matthews said search will continue until the liner reaches Cherbourg Saturday on an overnight stop before crossing the English Channel to her home berth at Southampton. The ship is among the world's biggest, a floating city with miles of corridors, 1,000 cabins, a 530-seat movie theater, a casino, nine bars, three restaurants, four dance floors and scores of shops and other public rooms.

The 1,500 passengers took aboard more than 12,000 pieces of baggage—impossible to search thoroughly during a record New York turnaround of a mere eight hours, three minutes.

Then there are the visitors. Not just those who go aboard as guests of passengers but thousands who pay to look over the ship while she is in dock.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

SATURDAY, MAY 20 — Born today, you are by nature a frugal person, given neither to lending nor borrowing, and entirely disinclined to the taking of financial risks. Indeed, you are somewhat overly careful, for there are certain speculative ventures that might have made you at least a small fortune had you not been too timid to risk your capital. On the other hand, your frugality insures your future, and makes it quite unnecessary that others should worry about you during your later years — unless, of course, you should have an unforeseeable change of character late in the day.

You need always to be warned against the taking on of foolish partners, for you seem to have a natural inclination toward such people. This is especially true in business, where you may well have to rescue yourself and your product any number of times before settling upon the right person to be of help to you. In marriage, too, you may have difficulties with your partner. The solution here, however, will be a matter of re-training.

A highly emotional person when it comes to anything that smacks of loss, you find it extremely hard to keep your worrisome feelings to yourself. Oddly enough, however, you seem able to keep your own secret for an inordinate time before being willing to share them with others. Such behavior strikes others as selfish at times — but since it is also quite harmless it is usually quickly forgiven.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, May 21
TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Seek the well-being of those who depend upon you. Children need some special attention. Keep your views regarding another's work to yourself.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Though there may be some delay getting your Sunday schedule underway, the day should ultimately turn out better than even you planned.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Take care that in your willingness to be kind to another, you don't become the victim of a practical joke. An excellent day for gaining knowledge.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Morning worship brings you closer to spiritual peace than you've been in a long time. It is essential that you come to terms with yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — A surprise is in store for the Virgo who's done his homework. Children — your own or another's — play a special role in your happiness today.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — An increase in understanding is all that is needed to correct at-home difficulties. Touchiness in family members can be counteracted with kindness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — A give-and-take day for the whole family. A matter of importance to your spiritual growth should make the afternoon hours glow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — There are those who may disapprove of the social contacts you've made lately, but you should be able to prove the wisdom of your judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Don't allow a lovers' quarrel to spoil your day where planned activities are concerned. Take your troubles outdoors and work them out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — A mixup in travel plans may make this a day of real to find yourself involved in a hasty retreat.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Those close to your heart may cause you deep concern early in the day. Hesitation makes it possible for you to make a wise decision, so don't rush things.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Keep to a strict schedule of work and play. Though Sunday, you can accomplish a great deal toward getting a new work

Hull May Flee To New League

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Black Hawk star Bobby Hull said Friday he may bolt to Winnipeg of the World Hockey Association.

"I've made a verbal deal with Winnipeg. And if they make good on it, I'm gone. They'll have themselves a hockey player," Hull told the Chicago Tribune.

Hull said that, if Winnipeg comes up with the money, "there's no chance for me to stay in Chicago." Hull is seeking $1 million in advance of the first year's service and another million for four more years of play.

Hull commented it would just be good business to accept such an offer and that "it's the first time in the last 15 years I've felt needed."

The 33-year-old left wing said: "I've made an agreement with Winnipeg, and I want to keep my word." He said he won't use the Winnipeg offer as a lever to get more money from the Black Hawks.

Ben Haskin, owner of the Winnipeg Jets, told the Tribune: "We'll have the money. We'll meet with Bobby and his agent next week."

Hull's recently expired contract with the Black Hawks paid $150,000 a year, and the expected $2 million Winnipeg contract would far outpace anything Hull expects the Hawks to offer, the Tribune said.

Hull said a decision to go to Winnipeg might be made easier by the fact that the Black Hawk front office hasn't shown much interest in him. He commented, "They never made good on their contract promises."

"So far, the impression I've gotten from them (the Hawk management) is that, if I go to the other league, fine; if I stay here, fine," Hull said.

Hull said he feels the SHA is a great challenge "which I'll work very hard to make succeed."

The Yankees nipped winless Marty Pattin, 0-5, for a run in the second inning on Rich McKinney's single, a wild pitch, a balk and a single by Gene Michael and chased him with three runs in the fourth.

Michael led off with a single, Stottlemire was hit by a pitch and they advanced on a wild pitch. Horace Clarke blooped a double to short left, scoring Michael, and when third baseman Rico Petrocelli threw the relay past second, Stottlemire also scored. ## Moment Of Truth For Riva Ridge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainers Homer Pardue and Lucien Laurin agreed Friday that the 97th running of the Preakness will be Riva Ridge's moment of truth in his bid to become racing's first Triple Crown winner in 24 years.

"If he wins Saturday, he'll win the Belmont easy," said Pardue, trainer of No. 1 Hace, runner-up to Riva Ridge in the Kentucky Derby and considered to be one of his main rivals in the 13-1/2-mile Preakness at Pimlico.

"If I get by this one here, I don't think I'll have too much trouble in the Belmont," said Laurin, who trains Riva Ridge and who will also saddle up a second Meadow Stable colt in the Preakness, Upper Case.

The 1 1/2-mile Belmont Stakes will be held at Belmont Park June 10 and both Pardue and Laurin felt that a small field, a probable lack of pace should suit Riva Ridge just fine and that the distance wouldn't hurt him.

Post time for the Preakness is 5:40 p.m., EDT.

With nine starters the race will be worth a gross value of $189,800, with $17,300 to the winner.

The weather forecast calls for a 70 per cent chance of rain.

Ron Turcotte, aboard during the wire-to-wire Derby run, will again ride Riva Ridge while Ray Broussard will mount Upper Case, who put in a final workout Friday.

Phil Rubbico will ride No. 1 Hace, and Braulio Baeza will be up on Paul Mellon's Key To The Mint, the early second favorite to the Meadow Stable entry.

Others entered in the Preakness, and their jockeys:

Moore, Stargell Guide Pirates Past Expos, 8-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Moore hurled 4 1-3 innings of perfect ball and finished with a four-hitter as the Pittsburgh Pirates rode Willie Stargell's four runs batted in to an 8-0 victory over Montreal Friday night.

Moore, 2-2, who struck out six without issuing a walk, returned the first 13 batters he faced before Bob Bailey lined a clean single up the middle with one out in the fifth.

He issued a two-out single to John Boccabella, then retired eight more Expos in a row before Boccabella beat out an infield hit in the eighth. Jim Fairley doubled in the ninth.

The Pirates, winning their fourth in a row and ninth game in the last 11, took the lead in the second inning on Stargell's seventh home run, a blast over the center field fence off Bill Stoneman, 3-4.

They made it 2-0 in the third as Dave Cash singled, stole second and came around on Vic Davalillo's single, then added another run in the sixth as Davalillo walked and Roberto Clemente and Stargell each singled.

Pittsburgh wrapped it up with a five-run eighth, highlighted by Stargell's two-run double.

Carleton Heads Midwest Tennis

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) — Carleton took a big lead in the Midwest Conference tennis tournament by winning the No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 singles titles as competition opened Friday.

Victories by Jim Nalabitt, Rick Picard and Greg Rainwater enabled Carleton to total 14 points to seven for runnerup Monmouth as the two-day meet began.

Unseeded Brad Vasales downed No. 3 ranked Pete Plaushien of defending champion Ripon 6-2, 6-4 for the No. 1 singles title after Plaushien had eliminated top ranked Don Hudson of Carleton 6-4 in the semifinals.

Rangers Down Twins And Kaat By 2-1 Count

ARLINGTON (AP) — Lanky Bill Gogolewski scattered five hits as the Texas Rangers handed Minnesota's Jim Kaat his first defeat of the season, turning back the Twins 2-1 Friday night.

Gogolewski struck out four, walked two and was helped out by a couple of clutch double plays as he raised his record to 3-2.

The Rangers scored both their runs in the fifth inning as Joe Lovitto singled, took third on Len Randle's double off Rod Carew's glove in right field and came home on Toby Harrah's grounder. Randle then scored on Elliott Maddox's single.

Minnesota's lone run came in the fourth on a single by Harmon Killebrew, Steve Braun's walk and Bob Darwin's single. Kaat, who had won four in a row, allowed seven hits in the seven innings he worked.

Cards Halt Skien, Down Chicago, 4-3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joe Torre snapped out of a brief slump with a towering three-run homer off Ferguson Jenkins, leading the St. Louis Cardinals out of an eight-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

Torre connected in the fifth inning after the Cubs took a 3-1 lead in the top of the frame on Ken Rudolph's solo shot off Scipio Spinks.

Ted Sizemore ignited the Cards' rally with a ground rule double and Matty Alou preceded Torre's 360-foot shot into the left field seats with a scratch hit off the glove of Jenkins, 3-4.

Chicago scored in the first on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Rick Monday. The Cards tied it on a pop fly triple by Ted Simmons lead-off.

ing off the fourth, a walk and a double play grounder. Chicago's final run came in the sixth as Monday doubled, moved to third on Jim Hickman's ground ball and scored on Carmen Fanzone's sacrifice (3).

Wood Wins 7th, Angels Fall 3-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Knuckleballing Wilbur Wood recorded his seventh victory of the season and contributed a pair of key singles to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 victory over California Friday night.

Wood, 7-2, scattered six hits but Steve Kealey replaced him on the mound when Bob Oliver led off the ninth for the Angels with a double.

The White Sox' veteran out-duelled another knuckleballer, Eddie Fisher, as the Sox posted their 14th home victory in 16 starts.

Wood aided his own cause by smashing a single and scoring the game's first run in the third inning and then singled home another run in the fourth when Chicago wrapped it up with a two-run rally.

He singled with one out in the third, took third on a single by Pat Kelly and scored on a sacrifice fly by Mike Andrews.

Richie Allen opened the Chicago fourth with a single but was forced by Bill Melton. Rick DETROIT (AP) — Errors by Detroit pitcher Les Cain in the first and fifth innings led to two unearned Cleveland runs and gave Gaylord Perry and the Indians a 2-1 victory over the Tigers Friday night.

Perry, 7-2, went the distance for the fifth time this season. He gave up a run in the first inning on a double by Aurelio Rodriguez and a single by Norm Cash, then shut out Detroit on three singles the rest of the way.

Tom McCraw led off the Cleveland first with a dribbler to Cain, 0-3, who threw the ball over first baseman Cash's head, allowing McCraw to reach third. Eddie Leon followed with a sacrifice fly.

Murray Olderman NEA Executive Editor

By MURRAY OLDERMAN BERKELEY, CALIF. (NEA) — The mail has been coming in to Jack Scott. He is the new director of athletics and chairman of the physical education department at Little Oberlin College and will be taking office at the Ohio school this summer.

One of his first acts was to hire Tommie Smith as the track coach. Tommie is the Olympic gold medal sprinter who raised his right fist in a black power salute on the victory stand at Mexico City.

"To complete the job," wrote one lady to Scott, "why don't you hire Angela Davis to teach Americanism?"

Such distaste is not foreign to Scott, a balding young man of 30 with a blond wisp of mustache, who has been creating waves in the sports establishment of America since he first brought forth a paperback called "Athletics of Athletes" in 1969.

He followed it with a hardback, "The Athletic Revolution," collaborated with football dropout Dave Meggery on "Out of Their League" and identified himself with such other sport dissidents as George Sauer, Harry Edwards and Chip Oliver.

Among the majority of men who administer American sports, the mention of Scott is a dirty word. He is the "Commie radical" out to destroy competitive athletics with his revolutionary ideas that the athletes are more important than the coaches or the owners.

Actually, in 1964, Jack Scott voted for Barry Goldwater for president. "I felt," he explains, "that Goldwater at least was an honest man."

He has, by founding the Institute for the Study of Sport and Society in a little frame house just off the campus of the University of California, where he acquired a Ph.D. in sociology, attempted to study the spectrum of American athletics in relation to a changing society. And what has come out until now has been primarily on the critical side.

For example: "You can eliminate racism in sport without changing the structure of sports. If the sports structure wasn't so damn stupid and uptight, they would recognize that potentially the black athlete is an ally of the sports establishment, if they would only treat the black fairly, because the blacks are so desperate in our society that if you give them a fair shake, most of them will come over to your point of view."

Scott says he didn't hire Smith as track coach just because he's black or because he admired Smith's actions at Mexico City (which he did). He never met Tommie until four weeks before. Then he interviewed him thoroughly and was impressed with Smith's poise and dignity and desire to teach at a high academic level (Smith, unheralded, has been coaching many of the country's leading track field stars). In a year, Jack plans to elevate Tommie to athletic director and concentrate his own efforts in the physical education department.

The significance of Scott's appointment at Oberlin is that for the first time it puts a leader of the radical ethic in sport in a position to put theory into practice. The criticism of Scott has been that his views were always negative, that he didn't offer positive alternatives.

"I felt it would be a cheap shot to say this is the way things should be done," he says. "Now, on a gut level, I enjoy this opportunity."

He will have under his wing a comprehensive program which fields teams in 14 different NCAA sports competitions, ranging from football and basketball to lacrosse and gymnastics. At his disposal is a plant which includes 18 football and soccer fields and two gymnasiums.

But Jack isn't abandoning his scrutiny of the sports establishment. A condition of his job is that he was permitted to transfer his Institute from Berkeley to Oberlin, where it will operate independently of the college, with Jack's wife Micki as the full-time adjutant, just as she has always been.

Jack and Micki Scott also keep their dedication to sport physical by running six miles a day. Jack is a former track star, was a 9.6 sprinter whose career was aborted by injury. His penchant for running has been frustrated by locked gyms and stadiums. He and Micki were once arrested for scaling the wall at Syracuse to take a spin around the track.

"Now," he says triumphantly, "I have the keys to the joint."

Splitterff And Royals Ramble Past A's 16-1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Royals went on their biggest run-producing spree ever, backing Paul Splitterff's six-hit pitching with own efforts in the physical education department.

Grote, Staub Pace Mets, 8-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jerry Grote drove in four runs with a pair of homers and Rusty Staub knocked in three with a homer and a single as the high-flying New York Mets dumped the Philadelphia Phillies 8-3 Friday night.

The victory, the Mets' eighth in a row, enabled them to widen their National League East Division lead to six games.

The Mets scored a run in the first inning on a walk to Tommie Agee and singles by Staub and John Milner, but the Phils went ahead in the second on Dick Selma's two-run double.

Staub tied it in the fifth with his fifth homer of the year, then Grote, who capped New York's scoring with a three-run blast in the sixth, put the Mets on top for good with his first homer of the game leading off the sixth.

Final Time Trials Open Today At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Old pros A. J. Foyt and Al Unser, who together have won five Indianapolis 500 mile races, are among drivers who must qualify this weekend if they are to compete in the 56th running of the storied event.

Church League

A full night of action was completed in Church League Slo-Pitch Friday night. Nazarene whipped Literberry Baptist 27-10 with Dean Vaniter leading the way with a home run, double and two singles. Jimmy Vaniter and Wayne Martin also hit doubles. Lynnville Christian pushed most of its runs across late to handle First Baptist 25-8. Roger Heaton went four for five in the 24-hit blasting by First Baptist, including three triples. In a close contest, State Hospital nipped Central Christian 5-1 with Banks hitting a home run and double for the victors and John Whitacre belting a round tripper for the losers.

Bob Wiedenmann had three hits in three trips for DeMolay, with Harold Leitze going four for four as Brooklyn Methodist won 12-5.

Lincoln Avenue Baptist marched past the Church of Christ 49-9, collecting 47 hits. Bob Kerr led with a home run, triple, double and single, with Charlie Martin accounting for nine RBI's with three homers.

The Knights of Columbus collected 19 runs on 18 hits to down Centenary Methodist 19-3. Jim Leatham went three for four at the plate with Joe Nolan hitting a home run and double for the victors.

Also among the hot shots who will be competing for one of the 21 spots still open in the 33-car lineup are the two front row sitters from last year, Mark Donohue and Pete Revson, and Mike Mosley, Roger McCluskey and Gordon Johncock.

The final two days of time trials begin at noon Saturday. Revson, who won the pole position last year, and Donohue are among five drivers who still are considered "first day" qualifiers. They were in line last Sunday when the rains came, depriving them of a chance to run under the clock.

Thus, these five still have an opportunity to claim the pole position from Bobby Unser. It would be a miracle, however, if either could even threaten the 195.940 miles per hour Unser recorded for his four-lap run last weekend.

Unser, driving Dan Gurney's Olsonite Eagle, bettered Revson's 1971 qualifying speed by more than 17 m.p.h. Not only that, he recorded a lap at 196.878 m.p.h. or seven miles faster than anybody else has put on the official clock.

Revson and Donohue, both driving McLaren cars, appear to have a good chance of dislodging Gary Bettenhausen and Mario Andretti from the two front row positions beside Unser.

Aside from Mosley, Revson and Donohue are the only drivers who have reached unofficial laps above 190 m.p.h.

Sieve Krisloff, a second year driver, and attached to the Grant King team, will be the first driver on the line when the 2.5 mile Speedway opens again for qualifying runs Saturday.

Mel Kenyon, driving a Gilmore Gracing-Lindsay Hopkins Offy, has the No. 2 spot, followed in the lineup by Donohue, rookie Jerry Karl and Revson. That would complete the run through of the "first day" qualifiers.

Next up after that will be Foyt, looking for his fourth Indianapolis triumph. His initial qualifying run last Saturday was washed out by a broken engine.

Al Unser, the winner the last two years, was also sidelined by engine problems last weekend and has been slowly working back up to speed. However, he has been nowhere near his brother's pace in practice.

In all, 28 cars or drivers had recorded unofficial laps of 180 m.p.h. or better during almost three weeks of practice. These included George Snider, who has taken over Foyt's spare Coyote-Ford; McCluskey, a veteran of many Indy 500s; and Johncock, who with Revson forms the British-based McLaren driving team.

Illinois Is Last To Get Into Act

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois which blew the whistle on itself in the 1967 so-called slush fund scandal Friday was the last to get in the act over an alleged new case of Illini athletic malpractice.

Chancellor J.W. Peltason ordered "lame duck" athletic director, Gene Vance, to launch an immediate investigation by the school's Athletic Association over charges already being probed by the NCAA and the Big Ten.

Whereas the 1967 case involved illegal payments to football and basketball players on a piecemeal basis over several years, the current inquiry involves basketball recruitment only, with purported allegations of a rigged entrance test and an automobile "bonus."

In the hot spot was basketball coach Harv Schmidt, who remains more silent than several of his former players, who have cited racial problems in discussion of the "preliminary investigation" announced Wednesday by Commissioner Wayne Duke as a joint inquiry by his conference and the NCAA.

Peltason directed Vance to request J. G. Thomas, as the Athletic Association's legal counsel, to lead an immediate investigation to "assure ourselves that irregularities do not exist, not only in the areas which are currently being investigated, but generally in Athletic Association activities."

NCAA-Big Ten probe, Peltason said: "The allegations made to the NCAA and the Big Ten reflect upon the integrity of student athletes, the staff of the Athletic Association and the University."

"It would be unfair to the student athletes and to the coaches to let these allegations go unchallenged."

Vance, former Illini basketball great hired as athletic director in 1967 to rebuild the football and coaching staffs, several weeks ago announced his resignation effective July 1 because of health reasons.

The NCAA reportedly already has questioned two black athletes who had brief basketball stays at Illinois, along with the white captain of the 1972 Illini cage team, who quit with one game remaining this season.

Alvin O'Neal, former Peoria, Ill., prep star, was asked by the NCAA reportedly if he received an automobile while at school and if Illini officials helped him pass an entrance exam after he failed in a similar test seeking to enroll at Bradley University.

him meant: "There were a couple of black players who had new cars and that was the only thing that I thought was suspect. Coach Schmidt told me they had long term loans and he didn't have anything to do with it."

The 1967 scandal, first exposed by Illinois president David D. Henry, caused the Big Ten to force resignation of football coach Pete Elliott, basketball coach Harry Combes and declare five players, including football star Cyril Pinder, permanently ineligible. The NCAA also put Illinois on a two-year probation.

Vance subsequently hired Schmidt as basketball coach and Jim Valek as football coach. Valek was fired in 1970 and replaced last season by Bob Blackman, highly successful Ivy League coach at Dartmouth.

Cards' Hague Goes For Carbo

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals traded outfielder-first baseman Joe Hague to the Cincinnati Reds Thursday night for outfielder Bernie Carbo in a straight player transaction.

The trade of the 28-year-old Hague for the 24-year-old Carbo was announced following the Cardinals' 6-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs, their eighth straight defeat.

Hague, hitting .237, led the cards with three home runs. Carbo, a rookie sensation for Cincinnati in 1970, tailed off to a .219 batting mark for the Reds in 1971 and had been used sparingly this spring.

Both Hague and Carbo are left-handed batters. In another move, the Cardinals sent left-handed pitcher Lance Clements to their Tulsa farm club of the American Association and called up Charley Hudson from the same club.

Ira Berkow NEA Sports Editor

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — If Joe Horlen wouldn't toe the line, then the Chicago White Sox wouldn't let him toe the rubber either.

That was essentially the charge by Marvin Miller, head of the Players' Association, when he threatened recently to file a charge of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board.

He still may. But there is no hurry now. Joe Horlen has a new job. He caught on as a relief pitcher with the Oakland A's, a couple of weeks after the White Sox had surprised him by asking wavers on him.

The White Sox told him that his services would no longer be needed on the very day that he and 23 other major league player representatives were meeting, March 31. A unanimous vote for the strike was the result of that meeting.

Horlen today does not say that the White Sox cut him because of his union activities. He does say, though, that it was "strange timing."

In fact, just before spring training, Horlen says, he received a sweet "note from management" saying they hoped he still could pitch a few more seasons for the White Sox and then, because he had given such standout service over the last 10 years, he could have a job somewhere in their organization when his playing days were over.

Little did he know how quickly sentiments can change. His downfall, Horlen believes, came about five days before the strike. And in the midst of strike talk.

Before this, it seemed Horlen had a spot on the pitching roster of the White Sox, as he had for the last decade. And for the first time in three years, he was sound physically. He had knee operations the last two seasons but was strong at season's end in 1971.

His record over the last two years was 6-16 and 8-9. Hardly 19-12, as it was in 1967.

"But this spring training, I started four games and pitched 11 innings and no one scored a run off me," he said.

Nevertheless, no team claimed him when the White Sox put him on the waiver list. Was it a conspiracy among the owners? Miller insists that these things exist. He discovered it, he says, soon after taking over the Players' Association. In 1967, he did file an unfair labor practice charge against Charlie Finley, owner of the A's.

Finley had allegedly fired Ken Harrelson for uncompensated personal remarks. Finley, through baseball commissioner William Eckert, had arranged for the other (them) 19 club owners to blacklist the recalcitrant Harrelson, Miller said. But Boston reneged, thinking they could use Harrelson's bat more than they would want to punish him. Harrelson decided, then, that there was no reason to continue legal action.

Ironically, it was Finley, the most widely individualistic of owners, who gave Horlen a chance, after Horlen had been turned down by several teams short on pitching.

A's manager Dick Williams didn't claim Horlen because he was scared off, he says. He figured Horlen had a sore arm (he hasn't had a bad arm in years) or his knees were still troublesome. Surely, Williams thought, the White Sox wouldn't release Horlen only because he's 35 and carried a $50,000 a year salary.

"A healthy Horlen would help any major league team," said Williams. "He's an experienced, accomplished pitcher."

In Memphis Field

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Bert Weaver, seeking to become the first man in 11 years to win on his home course, fired a three-under-par 69 and swept into the second-round lead Friday in the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open Golf Classic.

The 40-year-old Weaver, who took the head pro job at the host Colonial Country Club Oct. 1, had a 36-hole total of 140, four under par on the 7,185-yard layout.

He was one stroke in front of big J.C. Snead, who held a share of the lead until he bogeyed his final hole in the warm, sunny weather. Snead, the star of the 1971 U.S. Ryder Cup team, finished with a 70-141.

A quartet headed by defending champion Lee Trevino and 42-year-old Arnold Palmer was next at 142. Palmer had a second consecutive 71 and Trevino matched par 72.

They were tied with Mason Rudolph and Doug Sanders at two under par. Sanders had a 71 and Rudolph's 69.

Former Masters champion Charles Coody was one of about a half dozen at 143 in the closely-bunched field.

The three first day leaders—Gibby Gilbert, Hubert Green and Billy Maxwell—drifted back. Gilbert had a 74-143, Maxwell took a 76 and Green blew to an 81.

Weaver, a one-time tour regular who has played only sporadically in the last four seasons, is seeking to become the first host pro to win a regular tour event since Earl Stewart took the 1961 Dallas Open at the Oak Cliff Country Club.

"I don't expect to win," Weaver said, "but if, by some chance, I did, it wouldn't make any difference at all. I've found a home here. I wouldn't go back on the tour."

He had a slightly erratic round, scoring six birdies—one on a fantastic 80 foot putt—and three bogeys.

Weaver birdied the 10th hole—the first one he played—from 12 feet, then canned that 80 footer on the 13th.

He did bogey the next from a bunker, but made a pair of 15 foot birdie putts on the next two. Then he bogeyed two in a row, three-putting one and hitting a trap on another.

Weaver got one back with a nine iron shot to six feet, then took sole control of the top spot when he came within an inch of making an ace on the 177 yard fifth hole.

Palmer, again wearing eyeglasses, had a solid but unspectacular round. He missed two greens, and bogeyed them both. His three birdies came on putts of 15, 10 and 8 feet and the rest were routine pars.

Trevino, who won the second of his six titles in this tournament a year ago, had to rally from a double bogey six on the 11th hole. He plugged his second shot under the lip of a bunker, came out and three-putted.

It took a score of 150—six over par—to make the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. Among the casualties were Chi Chi Rodriguez and Dave Hill, who won this title three times in the last five years.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The bats of Spanu Holvart and John Dace powered Michigan State Friday to a doubleheader Big Ten baseball sweep over the host Northwestern, 5-1 and 4-3.

Howitt, a centerfielder, slugged a three-run homer in the fourth inning of the opener to bring the Spartans back from a 1-0 deficit. Larry Ike chalked up his third victory for a 3-2 conference mark.

A solo home run by right-fielder John Dace in the eighth inning gave MSU its margin-of victory in the nightcap.

Weather Fouls Up Lake Jacksonville Bass Tournament

Fishing News Notes

By DICK
SELLARS

Our local Bass club got started with its first meet last Saturday. There were 13 members fishing at Lake Jacksonville and one observer, which makes a total of 14 fellows in 7 boats. We fished under some of the worst conditions, a front moved thru the night before and most of the Bass were on spawning beds. Fellows who had been catching fish all season at Lake Jacksonville had fish actually swat lures with their tail to get them away from their beds, but would not take a lure. As soon as these fish start coming off their beds they will start biting again. After the front went thru last Friday night there was a short time in the early morning, before we took off at 10 o'clock, that a few fellows caught a few fish. The rest of the day they did the same as we did. There was a total of 4 Bass caught.

A two-pound six-ounce Bass by Roger Henderson won largest Bass-First Place Trophy and the traveling challenge trophy as soon as they came in. Ben Scudder won second place trophy and Jim Power won third place.

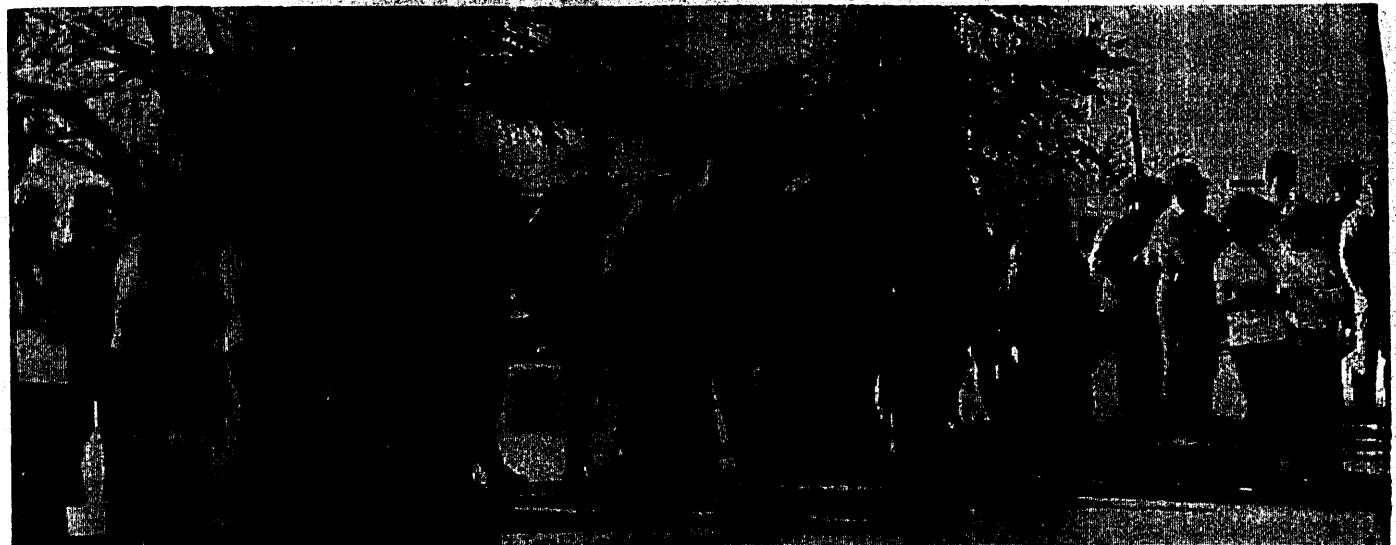

We want to thank all the people who came out to watch us come in. Local support for the Jacksonville Bass club was very much appreciated. There were several bass fishermen who said when they saw the crowd we had out there... if there was a different way off the lake, they would have taken it. Bass fishing can be one of the hardest sports there is; they get up very early, drive for miles, launch heavy boats into the water, throw lures all day long, fish late, drive home and are ready to go fishing the next day. Hardships can be knocking an $80 rod and reel into 18 feet of water when a fellow bass fisherman says he has a strike. There is no way of catching it when you see it going to the bottom of the lake. Isn't that right Bob Hunt? As one fisherman broke one rod tip before he started fishing, two reels while fishing and four times I turned around and saw him cutting a lure from a $5 skirt—that is awfully hard to explain to wives when you get home. But when he caught a two-pound six-ounce fish that won three trophies, he was all smiles and ready to go on our next fishing outing. Isn't that right Roger Henderson?

The local Bass club will meet this Saturday at 7 a.m. at the Ranch House then go to Otter Lake and try our luck again. We already have more fishermen than before signed up to go. I do want people to know that we can catch fish. Dan Artholony came by and twisted my arm Monday night. We went out to one of his local places. He caught a two-pound bass and let him go. I caught four bass — six pounds, five pounds, four pounds, and two pounds — and kept them for pictures and later turned them all loose in a local farm pond that is brand new.

Local Jacksonville Bass club members can catch bass! I caught all of my fish on a gapen worm and slip sinker. They have to be the best floating worms I have ever used. I have used every kind of lure possible this spring from the far south on up where I have fished 13 major lakes in the country, and always the most consistent lure I have used is the gapen worm and slip sinker. I used a 5-0 hook, starting the hook in the head of the worm—½ inch—run it out, turn the hook around and put back into the worm with a ¼-ounce slip sinker sliding freely on my 20-pound line, with a stiff rod and good heavy reel. I keep a slack line so, when I feel a fish hit or take off, I can reel in slack and set hook hard. For our local farm ponds the plastic floating worm has got to be one of the best fish catchers ever made.

Little Willis Hamm thinks a nightcrawler and a cane pole are the best for he caught a 2½-pound bass by himself in a local farm pond that he could not hold up for his picture to be taken. Look at his picture and see his eyes sparkle. He will be a fisherman for life now. Harry Birdsall, just retired, showed our Bass club up when he caught a six-pound Lunker Bass in Lake Jacksonville on Tuesday morning on a hula popper. Harry now wants to join our Bass club. Raymond Surratt knows the place to go at Shelbyville Reservoir to catch a huge stringer of crappie and bass up to one pound two ounces.

Special thanks for promotional considerations to Chuck Boston, manager of the Firestone Store; Bill Oxley, Innkeeper at Holiday Inn; Howard Hembrough Volkswagen; D and D Sports Center; Journal-Courier Newspaper; WJFL Radio; and city alderman Larry Evans. Also special thanks to Mrs. Pat Longstaff at the Jacksonville Lake Boat Docks for her consideration and efforts to help make the Bass Tournament a success even though we didn't catch fish. Bring your fish to D and D Sports Center for pictures and prizes.

Rend Lake

SPRINGFIELD — One of Southern Illinois' newest developments, Rend lake, which will be dedicated May 27, is expected to become a major industry and tourist attraction bringing more than $8 million in annual income to the area within three years.

The 18,900-acre lake has been completed and work has started on a three-phase development of the surrounding land for industrial uses and tourist attractions.

Ray C. Dickerson, director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development, said that since construction began in 1971 thousands of jobs have been created both directly through construction employment and indirectly through supportive services, such as restaurants, gas stations, schools and light industry.

Economists predict that when the Rend lake facilities are completed by 1975, the projected annual income of the area will be $8.65 million and that figure is expected to increase to $9.45 million by 1980 and $11.06 million by 1990.

The recreational facilities are expected to attract 2.3 million tourists by 1975, 2.7 million in 1980 and 3.16 million in 1990, according to Dickerson.

Besides being an attraction for industry and tourism, the lake, which is located in Jefferson and Franklin counties, will also be used by residents in a five-county area for water supply services.

The lake, dam, reservoir and two subimpoundments have created an abundant water supply. In 1971 an inter-city water system became operational serving 37 communities and rural customers in a five-county area around the lake. When full capacity is reached, the lake will be able to supply 40 million gallons of water per day.

The development of the outdoor recreation program, funded by the state and federal governments, is planned for three phases, Dickerson said.

The first will provide a resort - convention hotel, golf course, marina and a commercial motel and restaurant. Phase two will include development of a convention center and summer rental cottages, all of which will create the need for additional supportive services and will broaden the tax base.

The final phase is designed for the construction of private campgrounds, trap and skeet shooting facilities, a mobile home park and other park developments.

Rend Lake State Park, financed by the state, will provide 2,860 acres of park land with campsites which will supply running water, electrical and sewer hookups, laundries and restrooms with showers.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which is responsible for the construction of the lake itself; the Rend Lake Conservancy District, and the state of Illinois have already mapped out plans to offer a variety of recreational facilities to the public, Dickerson said. These include recreational areas designed for people wanting a minimum of facilities, such as trails for hikers and primitive camping sites, picnic and campsite areas, and boat launching ramps with nearby parking spaces.

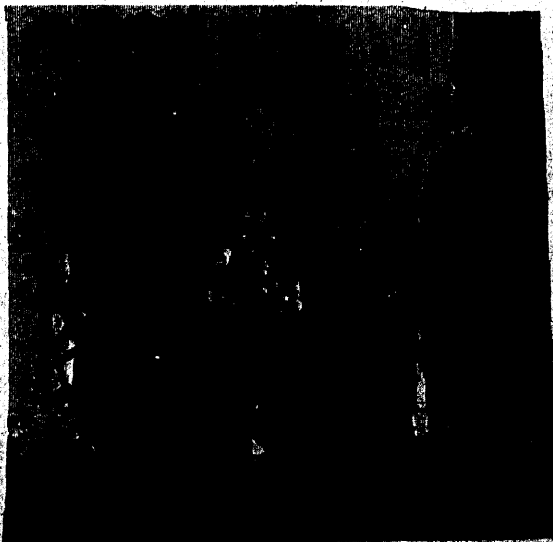

Rend lake, located between Mount Vernon and Benton, is situated near the transportation crossroads of the Midwest, a factor that Dickerson said will help in the expansion of the area.

In Addition To Conferences

By JAMES O. JACKSON

MOSCOW (UPI)—If the program goes as originally scheduled President Nixon will visit the nation's three finest cities during his trip to the Soviet Union. But chances are he will not see much of them.

Both the Soviet and American sides have predicted that the trip will be for work, not sightseeing, and almost all of the President's time will be spent in talks with Soviet leaders and conferences with presidential aides.

Still, there will be a proper minimum of tourism and Nixon is scheduled to see the best the Soviets have to offer in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev.

In Moscow, the President will live, work and eat inside the nation's most spectacular edifice: the Moscow Kremlin. He will be a guest in the ornate Kremlin Palace quarters set aside for the country's highest ranking state visitors.

A Few Minutes' Walk
From the palace he will be only a few minutes' walk from clusters of ancient onion-domed churches that contain the remains of most Russian tsars, including Ivan the Terrible. He will be able to visit the state armory where the prized treasures of Russia, including thrones, carriages, and diamond encrusted Easter eggs, are on public display.

His Soviet hosts also can be expected to take the President on a tour of modern Moscow to show off vast suburban housing projects and new factory complexes. It will be Nixon's fourth trip to Moscow, and the Soviets will be anxious to show what they have accomplished in the five years since he was last here.

After completing the bulk of his talks in Moscow Nixon is to be flown to Leningrad and Kiev where he will have an opportunity for more sightseeing and less work.

One of his ceremonial duties in Leningrad will be a visit to the Piskarevskoye Cemetery to place a wreath in honor of the half-million war dead buried there. They, and 1.5 million others, died as a result of disease, starvation and artillery bombardment during the siege of Leningrad.

A Return Visit

He will also have a chance to pay a return visit to the sprawling Winter Palace where tsars lived in pre-revolutionary St. Petersburg. The palace's Hermitage Museum contains one of the world's great art collections, ranging from ancient Egyptian artifacts to a stunning collection of French impressionists.

Of the three cities on his itinerary, Kiev is the only one that Nixon has not visited during his previous trips to the Soviet Union.

Kiev is the ancient capital of Russia, rising ten centuries ago with the protective banks of the Dnieper River guarding one side and a massive city wall protecting the other. Remains of the great Golden Gate of Kiev still stand despite the ravages of time and repeated invasions.

The city is filled with churches and the President undoubtedly will be shown the most spectacular of them, St. Sophia's, and the Kiev-Pecherskaya Monastery atop the steep hills overlooking the city.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Reader Exercises
A Winking Eye

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I reverently read your column and agree with most everything you say, except exercise. I am 17 years old and the heaviest exercise

I have ever taken after adolescence was winking at the girls which I do today. No athlete ever lived to age 100 and Jim Thorpe, the greatest, died at a mature but early age. A lot of other athletes as they have gotten older are certainly in poor shape. When an athlete trains he strains his physique and injures his body increasing his chances of heart trouble.

My grandfather drank a quart of whisky daily, not counting cider, and he lived to 101. My relatives all live long. They have good jobs but they don't try to impress their neighbors with trying to be the best dressed or the best smelling.

Taking life slowly and a good normal exercise like walking and stretching, with a rule requiring a few days a month outside the automobile would do more good than all the doctor's advice. A cure for heart disease in the future is relaxation in the present.

Dear Reader — I am a firm supporter of walking and if you have read my column as regularly as you have said you know that I have repeatedly emphasized it as the most important form of regular exercise. Certainly a person should be able to demonstrate that he can walk an hour without difficulty before doing anything more strenuous.

I am afraid that a lot of our athletes who have died early in age haven't always continued to stay in top physical condition. This means they have neglected their exercise program, eaten too much and in some instances they have used too much alcohol. Not all of them, including Jim Thorpe, tolerated this unhealthy change in their living habits as well as your grandfather.

Occasionally there are young people who die at an early age from heart disease who are active in athletics, particularly football. Football is not the most ideal form of exercise in developing the heart and blood vessels to top condition, particularly when a lot of emphasis is placed on maintaining a heavy body weight.

There are a lot of records which suggest that athletes live

ABC PLACES CAVETT SHOW ON PROBATION

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Cavett's show is on three months probation at ABC. David Frost will drop his syndicated series in midsummer in favor of his weekly revue and occasional specials. Does this mean the nighttime talk show is an endangered television species?

Opinion among the experts is split, but the consensus seems to be that the problem faced by these two and some others is more that of supply and demand than the quality of talk.

"Compare it with shelf space in a store: When there are a lot of brands of cereal crowding limited space, the ones that don't sell well or come along too late don't make the shelf."

AUTO BUFF

Mitch Vogel of NBC-TV's "Bonanza," who turned 16 last January, has gotten his first driver's license and is restoring a vintage Porsche.

GIGI, THE GRAY WHALE, RETURNED TO THE SEA

Gigi, the only gray whale to live in captivity and make friends with man, will be the subject of a KMOX-TV4 special, Gigi Goes Home, Tuesday, May 23, 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Gigi, captured off Baja, Calif., when she was two months old, thrived in captivity—at San Diego's Sea World—gaining half a ton a month.

Scientists considered their find the most important single whale in the last several million years.

Two months ago, Gigi was moved from her million-gallon water tank at Sea World, fitted with a special radio pack, and returned to the sea.

Lloyd Bridges narrates the colorful documentary produced by KNXT Los Angeles.

SHATNER, MacRAE ON "KID TALK"

Bill Adler is moderator of "Kid Talk."

FROM THOSE WHO KNOW

More than 250 officers of the Los Angeles Police Department submitted story ideas to NBC-TV's "Adam-12" series during the 1971-72 season.

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — "It's surprising," said Catherine McPherson, "that these kinds of people are making our laws."

The 14-year-old Lombard eighth grader is one of more than 18,000 students who visit the Illinois General Assembly each week and often go away confused and dismayed about what they have seen.

In endless lines of ones and twos the youngsters snake through the statehouse stopping briefly in both chambers of the legislature during their 30-minute tour.

What they see, said one guide, depends on whether the House and Senate are in session and what kind of activity the lawmakers are engaged in.

"It all seems kind of unorganized," declared Kevin Kempin, 13, an eighth grader from Lombard after a visit to the House. Majority Leader Henry Hyde, R-Chicago, had talked with some eloquence during Kevin's visit only to be ignored by dozens of legislators who were luddled in discussions of their own or eating lunch.

Last year, more than 450,000 youngsters visited the General Assembly to get better acquainted with their government, but teachers admit that what they see is only a small portion of the legislative process—and a misleading one at that.

Two Pay Fines In Circuit Court

Two defendants entered pleas of guilty to separate charges and were assessed fines before Judge John B. Wright Friday afternoon.

Stanley A. Cloyd, 17, of 1441 West Walnut entered a plea of guilty to permitting an unauthorized person to drive and was fined $35 and $10 court costs.

Glen Richard Holt, 19, of rural Belleville entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession of liquor and was ordered to pay a fine of $15 and $15 court costs.

Edmond K. Featherstone, 65, of Franklin entered a plea of innocent to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol and was ordered to report for a jury trial on June 5 at 10 a.m. He was also denied the services of the public defender.

C OF C NAMES COMMITTEES

AT WHITE HALL

WHITE HALL — A meeting of the White Hall Chamber of Commerce was held at the City Hall May 15 with president Larry Dawdy in charge. He appointed the following committees for the ensuing year: sales, Vedder Knight, Frank Custer, Jewel Gray and Warren Fansler; industrial, Marc Diebold, Jerry Wilson, Bob Nichols and C. D. Shive; area improvement, Al Whattlet, Jack Ballard, Edwin Ford and Paul Fansler; executive, Merlin Hunt, George Stahl, Vincent Lambert, Terry Airmann and John B. Pratt, Sr.

Tom Bradford attended the meeting and made a proposal that the Chamber sponsor a presentation of Happy Hollow Opry, which was accepted. The time, date and place will be announced. The group decided to donate $50 to the annual Lions club homecoming parade on July 1. Chamber members will sell refreshments along the parade route.

Rebekah Lodge
Adams Rebekah Lodge members met in regular session May 16 at Hunt's Hall here with a carry-in supper at 6:30 with Mrs. Ray Linker and Mrs. Dwight Conrod, hostesses. Mildred Petrey gave the Prayer of Grace.

Four guests from the Carrollton Rebekah Lodge attended: Dorothy Brock, Lena Keyes, Elizabeth Bishop and Mary Ellen Jackson.

Bertha Nicholson, N.G., presided.

Mrs. Nova Lyons and Mrs. Ruth Barnard presented Mildred Petrey with a beautiful 50-year Rebekah pin. Mrs. Petrey joined the Brighton Lodge in 1922 and transferred to the White Hall Lodge in 1929. that. "Students have a misconception of how their government is run," said Rep. Glenn Schneider, a Democrat from Naperville, where he also teaches high school.

"If it were possible," he added, "we should let the kids into the committees. That's where they could see the give and take of the legislative process much better than on the floor."

Schneider admits that the scenes on the floor of the House often seem chaotic from where the youngsters sit. Most of the legislative groundwork, he explained, already has been done by the time a bill reaches the floor.

But it is the floor action—or at times inaction—that the students see in their five-minute visits in each chamber.

"They (teachers) want to show you how organized your government is and then when you get here you see all of them just goofing off," declares Maureen Brunner, a 15-year-old freshman at Providence High School in New Lenox, after a recent visit.

"I thought it would be more orderly," said 12-year-old Joe Pelati of Taylorville as he walked from the House chamber to the more sedate Senate.

Kevin Dulle, 13, of Albers told a reporter as he watched the House go through some routine business: "From what we talked about in class I thought they did some work here, but now I don't really know."

At times students are lucky to walk in—as did Randy Sprague, 15, of West Pike—during a lively debate. "It seems that they would get a lot more done," he said afterward, "if they all would get together more."

After a recent House discussion on adjournment—interrupted by an announcement about where to meet for a softball game the next day—Jim Little, 16, of Bluffs declared, "They look like they didn't want to get anything accomplished except...getting out of there."

Pilot Club Rounding Up Fiscal Year

Year-end committee reports were heard in a general summary of the year's activities at the last 1971-72 business meeting of the Pilot club of Jacksonville held in the community room of Illinois Power Company Wednesday, May 10, with Mrs. C. Y. Rowe, president, presiding.

The end of the Pilot club year is of special significance at this time because it marks the termination of the 50th anniversary of Pilot International, the final celebration of which will be held in San Francisco at the international convention in July. Pilot clubs in the United States and abroad have honored the history of Pilot in various ways throughout the past year, paying tribute to the record of service which Pilots have compiled in their efforts to be of use to their respective communities. Jacksonville Pilots saluted their organization with a downtown window display which showed the community activities engaged in through the 20 years of the local club's existence and also with a Founders Day banquet.

Among the committee activities reported at the business meeting was that of the tree chairman, Mrs. Milton Stout, who announced that the annual tree campaign closed with the planting of 39 trees on the boulevards of the city. These trees represent the contributions of interested citizens matched with funds from the Pilot club. Mrs. Stout stressed the fact that such trees now are the responsibility of the individual residents and expressed the hope that the trees would receive special watering care during the hot months.

Mrs. Mildred Hill, education chairman asked for additional cancelled stamps for the package she is preparing to mail to Sons of Norway for their use in aid to sick children.

Community service chairman, Mrs. R. J. Kaufmann, Sr., announced that she was assisted in volunteer service at Passavant Hospital Gift Shop by Mrs. Rowe and Miss Vae Rose Fultz.

After a discussion of plans for the coming appearance of the United States Marine Band which is giving two concerts at the Jacksonville High Gym September 16 under the auspices of the club, cake and coffee were served in honor of Pilots whose birthdays had occurred since the first of the year.

Mrs. Rowe read an invitation from the Pilot club of Springfield for its 25th anniversary celebration May 18th. Representing the club at the dinner at Lincoln Towers were Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Reid Lashley, Miss Louise Bancroft, and Mrs. Arthur Samore.

Care Conditions

Called 'Sordid'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A state senator Friday called for reform of Illinois mental health institutions, especially of a bureaucracy she said was bound with red tape that helped create "sordid, terrifying and dehumanizing" conditions.

Mrs. Saperstein called "all too common" the following complaints: —Slipshod admission and discharge policies. —Lack of care after discharge. —Raping and molesting of young female patients. —Lack of needed supplies. —Patient use of alcohol and drugs. —Inadequate diet. —Patients and staff alike live in a climate of terror," she said, "in a physical setting of crumbling walls, broken furniture, and filthy rugs..."

Youth To March For Bangladesh In Benefit Here

Junior high and older students in Jacksonville will be participating in a community march Sunday afternoon, May 21st, to cover a 12-mile-plus distance. The young people will leave from the Jacksonville square shortly after 1 p.m. and march to the Mormon church west of the city (old Liberty church site), and then back to the square.

Funds raised in the program will benefit conditions and the starvation diet for people in Bangladesh. The young people, and anyone wishing to join the group, will be crediting the sum of 33 cents per mile, per marcher. This amount of 33 cents represents the money needed to provide food for one day for one person in Bangladesh.

Local authorities are aware of the march, this to be marked and supervised by adults. Sag wagons will pick up marchers not wishing to complete the round trip. Two rest stops will be provided.

Sponsors include business firms and many individuals, but more are needed. Pledges are being made in most amounts of $4 and more per marcher to cover the full distance. Those wishing to sponsor a marcher are asked to phone 245-7700 or 245-0852. Young people with own sponsors may use these phone numbers, also. Donations are welcome for the youth project and checks made payable to the Bangladesh Emergency Relief Fund.
